About the Presenter

Ali Zaidi, MD, is an adult congenital heart disease (ACHD) cardiologist who trained in ACHD, pediatric cardiology and adult cardiovascular disease at the Ohio State University and Nationwide Children's Hospital in Columbus, OH. He also has advanced training in cardiac imaging at The Ohio State University. He was the Director of ACHD Research at The Ohio State University and Nationwide Children's Hospital and is now the Director of the Montefiore Adult Congenital Heart Disease Program (MAtCH) at the Montefiore Medical Center, Albert Einstein College of Medicine in New York. Dr. Zaidi is a member of the ACHA Medical Advisory Board.

About the Adult Congenital Heart Association

The Adult Congenital Heart Association (ACHA) is a national not-for-profit organization dedicated to improving the quality of life and extending the lives of adults with congenital heart disease (CHD). ACHA serves and supports the more than one million adults with CHD, their families and the medical community—working with them to address the unmet needs of the long-term survivors of congenital heart defects through education, outreach, advocacy, and promotion of ACHD research. For more information about ACHA, contact (888) 921-ACHA or visit www.achaheart.org.
